OUR

MILLINERY DEPARTMENT

We desire to introduce to the purchasing public MADAME MONNIER, late from Paris, who has come to Los Angeles to take charge of our Millinery Department.

Mme. Monnier comes to us highly recommended as an artiste in her profession, and we have no hesitancy in saying that no more stylish Hats or Bonnets be had more stylish, nicer trimmed and more in appearance than in our Millinery Department.

We also save you many dollars in the price of Hats. For instance: Milliners generally have no set rule about the price of a hat. One is trimmed; it looks pretty, and a guess is made what it be marked $5 or $7.

SALE! OUR PLAN

Is, you pay only what it is put on the hat. You will notice that every hat has a ticket inside which is numbered. For instance: This hat is numbered No. 2709. We turn to our Trimming Book and find Hat No. 2709, and the following items appear on page—

1 hat - - -	.75
3 ribbons, 20c - - -	.60
1 buckle - - -	.25
½ yard mull, 25c - -	.12
Lining and elastic -	.10
Labor - - -	.50
Total - - -	$2.32 which is the price of the hat.

No guess work. You pay what the hat amounts to. Not more, nothing less. Now this hat may have the appearance of higher price hat, and perhaps, and without doubt, were we to put 50c or even $1 on the hat, many who are no judges would pay it. We invite the ladies to call and see our styles.

They Are the Newest,

Having been selected by our MR. D. A. HAMBURGER at New York, and consequently can show you styles, odd, pretty and which cannot be found elsewhere.

GREECE is plucky, but what discretion!

MAJOR CARTER HARRISON, of Chicago, telegraphed to Gladstone his approval of home rule. And now a wicked newspaper gets in its say so by suggesting that Gladstone reciprocate.

MR. PULITZER, of the New York World, rises to declare that the boycott is American. Thereupon the San Francisco Alta retorts that, if it is, it has just that advantage of Mr Pulitzer.

THE Maine folks are greatly tickled because Moosehead Lake did not freeze clear to the bottom. They begin to put on quite tropical airs—[Up country paper. Errend the citrus belt to them; call them Higher Moosehead.

BRADSTREET'S report shows an unpleasant industrial lookout in the East. A little more tampering with the situation is likely to precipitate a financial crash. Look out, gentlemen, for a Black Friday lurking about there somewhere.

THERE is a loud call for the street sprinklers now a days. The warm sun and fresh breezes are bringing up real estate in a way that the most ardent speculators cannot indorse. Somebody suggest to the Street Commissioner to bring out his carts.

A SAN FRANCISCO politician who descended to the small business of picking pockets, got himself into jail, and then despondently committed suicide. He should have got away with a whole treasury and then taken a little ocean voyage, and the outcome would have been vastly different. Some men fail in life simply for want of tact.

A BOSTON man correct on the streets yesterday to the effect that the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company had purchased the property of Mrs. Bigelow on the river bank, at the terminus of First street, paying $18,000 therefor. The gossip is given for what it is worth. The property would no doubt be serviceable for depot grounds, and the Los Angeles and San Gabriel Valley railway is heading around in that direction.

THE attendance at San Francisco's free public library has fallen off one-third since 1881, although the books have largely increased in number and the population of the city has grown 50 000 in that time. The trustees lately voted to close the library during forenoons from May 15 to June 15, and the Chronicle, apparently in good faith, suggests that it be shut up altogether, as its usefulness is waning.

TWO HUNDRED sewing women of East Buffalo have invoked the boycott against President Cleveland, because Mr. Sweet, Miss Folsom, has given them the go by and has gone to Europe to purchase her trousseau. Now, if these worthy, but indignant sempstresses will but take themselves to Washington and distribute boycott bills in front of the White House during the pendency of the President's nuptials, there will be something rich, rare and racy about their course. Simple resolutions to defeat his future presidential aspirations amount to so little! Sempstresses can't vote, you know. But a boycott before his door or a real old fashioned charivari, there is richness in it!

AMUSEMENTS.

THE FABINI OPERA COMPANY LAST NIGHT.—In presenting Flotow's opera of Martha to the music-loving portion of the Los Angeles people, Signor Farini has done his best to afford an evening's entertainment with the help of exclusively home talent. It could hardly be expected that a company of amateurs could sing and act in Grand Opera in a manner to satisfy those whose standard is the lofty one attained by the best of lyric artists; judging last night's performance by the standard of average performances, it was quite creditable to the signor's pupils. Misses Annie and Ida Wiseman sang the parts of "Martha" and "Nancy" with feeling and expression, and with vivacity the characters they assumed. The "Last Rose of Summer" was sung by Miss Annie Wiseman, was the gem of the opera. Signor Farini, it is understood, intends to stay among the "Tenders" with his usual nerve and push and it is all that could be made. He is the life of the scene whenever he comes on, and carries everything before him. R. E. Lander took the part of "Lord Triston" in a way that showed he was not a novice, and L. C. Holmes made the small part of the "Sheriff" very acceptably. The most difficult part to fill is unquestionably that of Lionel, and here Barlione and bass are to be found by the dozen, but your tenor of even average ability is a rara avis. Signor Farini generously consented to take this weakness, for the part of "Lionel" to his gentlemen, who sang it alternately in the various acts. The divide was equitable, and deserved more success than it met with. The chorus requires strengthening, though, for it was not particularly well went smoothly enough. Signor Farini plays Martha in five acts, and intends to announce on the programme at each of the audience left after the fourth to under the impression that the performance was over.

Previous to the opera, Mrs. W. H. Gilbert sang a cavatina from "La Traviata," showing her remarkably fine voice and artistic execution to great advantage. She sang, in spite of the inefficiency of the general accompaniment.

Miss Eril Darter also sang an aria from "Lucrezia Borgia" with exquisite effect; and the trio of ladies was completed by Miss Winston, who sang with her accustomed sweetness a selection from "Fortini."

Flotow's opera Martha will be repeated on the evening of the 6th and 20th inst., and the Miserere scene, from Trovatore on the evening Mrs. W. H. Gilbert will appear in the leading role in two acts of the Trovatore, and a miscellaneous programme will also be rendered.

ITEMS.—THEATER.—Miss Boyle closes her engagement at the city to-night, playing The Lancashire Lass. Of her appearance in this piece the Oakland Times says: "It would be a great mistake to attempt a description of Ruth Kirby,' as it was rendered by Miss Boyle, who seemed almost perfect in this role. Beside her natural dramatic talent, this lady has evidently by nature with gifts which all her parts enhance them; and at though it is no longer to be feared that she has such charming presence, with her many natural gifts always at hand. She has a pleasing face, which at all times is lighted with a rare and quick intelligence, and her role demands; and her movements are supple and graceful, while her voice is exceptionally well modulated, and free from most repugnant utterances, clear and distinct."

ITEMS.—The sale of seats for Barlow & Cotton's engagement will be opened to-day. It has been so long since Los Angeles has seen a first-class minstrel performance, that a rush may be

GRITTY GREECE.

FOR THE POWERS AND THEIR MINIONS.

The Foreign Ministers Leave Athens—Greek Troops Going Forward—Signs of the Coming Contest.

Associated Press Dispatches to The Times.

ATHENS, May 7.—The government has sent a gunboat to Constantinople to take away from the Turkish capital the Greek Minister. Greek troops are being hurried to the front with all possible speed.

All the foreign ministers have embarked on vessels of their respective nations to depart from Greece. The powers have given orders to their fleets to blockade Greek ports.

The soldiers at the garrison here received with cheers the orders to march to the frontier. Tewfik Bey, the Turkish Minister, when he departed hence to-day, took with him all members of the staff of the Turkish legation, and loaded all his and their personal effects to be removed. The secretaries of the other foreign legations will remain, in an unofficial capacity, for a time, at least. The Russian minister did not leave when the other Ministers departed, not having been instructed to do so.

The Peloponnesian army has been ordered to Thessaly. The movements of the Turkish army threaten to make Thessaly the scene of the first warlike operations. Indications now point to a Turkish advance by way of Larissa. The Greek reserves at Nolo and Valestin have been pushed to the front. The regiment designated the King's Escort is ready to start for the front. The government has announced its intention of defending Greek territory against any and all advances by foreign powers.

THE WAR FEVER RIGHT AT ATHENS.

ATHENS, May 7—Two battalions of the Athens garrison have already started for the frontier. The soldiers went out with great enthusiasm. They will embark at Laurium, in order to avoid the blockaders stationed to cover the other water routes. The populace is enthusiastic over the prospect of war with Turkey. Soldiers are parading the streets, singing patriotic songs. They are everywhere cheered, and are at present the most popular persons in the city. A large number of soldiers remain here of those who have been returned to Suda bay. The Greek fleet has left Salamis, and is believed to have gone to Paros. It is not believed here that the Russians will take any share with the other powers in the ulterior work of coercion against Greece.

FOREIGN NOTES.

Spread of the Cholera—Rochefort Fights a Duel.

ROME, May 7.—During the past twenty-four hours twelve new cases of cholera and four deaths have been reported at Venice, five cases and two deaths at Vicenza, and sixteen cases and six deaths at Buriod.

A DUEL.

PARIS, May 7.—Henry Rochefort and M. Portalis fought a duel with pistols to-day. Four shots were fired by each contestant, none of which did any harm.

THE MORMON PROBLEM.

An Appeal for the Wives and Children of Polygamists.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Mrs. Newman, representing the Industrial Home, an incorporated institution of Utah, addressed the Senate Committee on Education and Labor to-day, advocating an appropriation for the support of that institution. She is indorsed by the Utah Commission, by Chief Justice Zane and his associates, and by ex Governor Murray and the Gentile clergy of the Territory. The object of the institution is to fit for self-support such of the women and girls of Utah a wish or can be induced to escape the evils of polygamy. It is proposed to teach the duties of domestic service and such of the trades and professions as women are fitted for, and by means of a bureau of information to find employment in the States for graduates of the institution, and supply them the means of getting away. Mrs. Newman made an eloquent address depicting forcibly the horrors of a polygamous life as described to her by women who had suffered from it, and stated that it is the belief of the intelligent Gentiles of the Territory that if an opportunity of escape was afforded, many Mormon women, who are now in a condition of slavery, would be rescued. The Mormon Legislature, she said, could not be depended on, of course, to give support to any institution of this kind. The Gentiles of the Territory, who were there to mass their fortunes, could not identify themselves with it, since that would result in business ostracism. And the Gentile missionaries had not the means to support the institution. Mrs. Newman presented the local sentiment among the Gentile portion of the Utah community as favoring first, the government of the Territory by a commission, and, second, the distribution of women in the Territory.

A CAREless CAPTAIN.

His Schooner Seized for Violating the Fishery Laws.

HALIFAX, N. S., May 7.—Two or three American fishing schooners have appeared in the basin at Digby within the past day or two for the purpose of buying bait. In response to telegrams the government steamer Landsdowne this morning began giving chase to the David J. Adams, of Gloucester, overhauled her and took her back to Digby, whence she will be taken to St. John to-night, under sentence for violating the fishery laws. The Adams was put in charge of a prize crew to night, and thirteen members of the schooner's crew were transferred to the Landsdowne, several of the men belonging in Campbell, N. B. Captain Kinney is about 25 years old, and is said to be impru-dently daring. The schooner is of 170 tons. This is the first American fishing schooner that has been seized by the Dominion authorities.

DEMANDS DAMAGES.

A Maine Man's Grievance Against the Madagascar Queen.

BOSTON, May 7.—Capt. Cyrus B. Averill, of Rockland, Me., has made a demand on the Queen of Madagascar for $8000 damages for the robbery and abuse of himself and daughter, and the looting and the burning of his vessel, the bark Sunrise, on the Madagascar coast last November. Documents have been forwarded by the State Department to the Consul at Tamatave, with directions to request that instant reparation be made. The Rockland Courier, which prints Captain Averill's account of the affair, says that it is stated that a United States war vessel was recently dispatched to Madagascar in connection with the outrage.

FLOODS.

A Missouri Town Under Water—Swollen Streams.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., May 7.—Rain began to fall soon after noon yesterday and continued to pour down in torrents for nearly three hours, causing all the creeks and branches to boom, tearing away fences and inundating the bottom lands, badly damaging wheat and corn. Jordan creek, which runs through the village, rose very rapidly driving forty families from their homes. Some of the women and children were carried out on horseback and men's shoulders to escape drowning, the water in places rising into the second stories of dwellings. The basements of a number of business houses are filled with water.

Hanged by Citizens.

CANTON, Miss., May 7.—Last night a negro named Chambers entered the house of W. N. Bledsoe, and attempted a criminal assault on his fourteen-year-old daughter. Chambers was taken from jail to day by a number of citizens and hanged.

OHIO.

Grand Banquet of Buckeyes in New York.

NEW YORK, May 7.—The sons and foster sons of Ohio resident in this city celebrated the founding of the Ohio Society of New York by a banquet at Delmonico's, to-night. The leaders in the movement were Gen. Thomas Ewing, Gen. Henry, L. D. Burnett, Col. W. L. Strong, Gen. Wagner Swayne, Gen. Thomas T. Eckert, Col. C. W. Moulton, Homer Lee, Algernon S. Sullivan, Whitelaw Reid and others of national reputation. Unlike a similar organization, the New England Society, which is composed of the sons of six States, the Ohio Society is made up of natives of one State, the first born of the American Republic. The large banquet hall was filled to repletion. More than 250 people were present, and talked over times when the Buckeye State was the home of the Indian and buffalo and the site of many a log cabin, long since made famous in song and story. All political differences were forgotten; all sectional disputes were overlooked, and as John Sherman and "Joe" McDonald shook hands in the anteroom before dinner, all present felt that they had need to feel proud of the State which sits in the center, belongs to no section, and is a bond all. The hall was plainly, but prettily decorated. The following cable gram was received from Hon. S. S. Cox:

"General Thomas Ewing, No 155 Broadway, N. Y.: Ohio full of civil and martial honors. Her sons are heroes without the heraldry; her daughters Peris without the harem. Fill the golden horn."

Mr. Homer Lee, Secretary, read a number of letters of regret from invited guests, among which were letters from Chief Justice Drake, Ex-Gov. Howell, Gen. Durbin Ward, Murat Halstead, Judge Thurman, Chief Justice Waite, Judge Carter, Gen. Schenck, Senator Jones, William D. Howells, Richard Smith, Gen. Sherman, Lieut. General Sheridan and others. After appropriate remarks on the reunion, Gen. Thomas Ewing, president of the society, said:

"Gentlemen, I have the pleasure to present to you the typical Buckeye, the architect of his own fame and fortune, who stands before you only one man in the Republic in official station, and below none in the respect of his countrymen, John Sherman."

FOR HOME RULE.

Great Meeting in New York—O'Donovan Rossa Squelched.

NEW YORK, May 7.—The Irish home rule meeting at the Academy of Music to-night was a great success. Among those on the platform were Eugene Kelly, ex Postmaster-General James, Gov. Hill, Mayor Grace and Gov. Leon Abbett of New Jersey. Later Senator John Sherman, Congressman Grosvenor and Congressman Butterworth of Ohio and Gen. Stewart L. Woodford also arrived, and were escorted to seats on the platform. Mayor Grace was made temporary chairman, and spoke briefly of the objects of the meeting. Letters and telegrams were passed eulogizing Gladstone and Parnell, congratulating Ireland on her coming emancipation and congratulating England on the progress in public sentiment which had permitted the introduction of the home rule measure in Parliament.

After the resolutions were passed, O'Donovan Rossa arose and demanded an amendment and protested against praising Gladstone. His voice was drowned in hisses and groans, and on the advice of Gov. Hill he subsided. The resolutions will be presented by Messrs. Gladstone and Parnell by J. J. O'Donoghue, who will sail with them for Liverpool to-morrow.

RICH RESOLUTIONS.

The Boycott Invoked Against the President's Fiance.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—A special dispatch to the Chronicle from Buffalo, as instancing to what extent the boycott may be carried, says: An association of 200 East Buffalo sewing women had a meeting at which the following resolution was adopted:

WHEREAS, Grover Cleveland is about to be married to Miss Folsom, and both have been residents of this city, and should be interested in its industries; therefore,

Resolved, That the act of Miss Folsom in buying her bridal outfit in Europe, be deprecated in the strongest manner, and that we would be better done in America, particularly in Buffalo, and that we use our best efforts to defeat Cleveland's and Miss Folsom's aspirations, if he persists in having his bride's trousseau made in Paris.

MODESTO, May 7.—The County Prohibition convention was held here to-day. Resolutions to make a strong political fight were adopted. The following were selected as delegates to the State convention: C. SUICIDE OF A NOTED POLITICIAN.

One of Sharon's Charitable Bequests—Six Convicts Break Jail—Other Items Along the Slope.

Associated Press Dispatches to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—The forty-three-days contest over the will of Thomas Fallon, who left an estate valued at about $300,000, was concluded, yesterday, by the jury bringing in a verdict breaking the will. The will bequeathed to Fallon's youngest son the greater part of his property and to his daughter $40,000. Two other sons were not mentioned in the will. D. S. Payne, Henry Kenitzer and Adolph Pfeiffer were appointed executors of the estate without bonds. Fallon's four children contested the will on the ground of deceased's imbecility of mind and of undue influence. The jury also exonerate the executors who were charged with undue influence.

SUICIDE OF AL. STEWART.

Al. Stewart, a prominent figure in local politics, who was arrested on Friday last during the Bancroft fire for pocket picking, committed suicide this morning in his cell in the city prison, by taking poison, the exact nature of which has not yet been ascertained. The act is believed to have been caused by despondency over the fact that all of his friends had refused to come to his aid in the present trouble.

ONE OF SHARON'S BEQUESTS.

The bequest of $3000 by ex Senator Sharon at his death to the Golden Gate Kindergarten Association, was used to establish the Flora Sharon Kindergarten, which was opened to-day, with the greatest success, on Beale street. Many of the most prominent society ladies of the city were present.

PRISONERS BREAK JAIL.

SIX prisoners escaped this afternoon from the House of Correction. They effected their escape while in the yard getting daily exercise. By some means they became possessed of a lock saw and pot scraper, with which they succeeded in cutting through the double fence, sixteen feet high. Their flight was soon discovered, and chase immediately followed. Several shots were fired at the fleeing men, which brought three of them to a halt, who were recaptured. None, however, had been hit. The other three succeeded in escaping. They are Adam Stroh, imprisoned for burglary; William Hayes, burglary; David Reardon, robbery.

Vigilantes Arrested.

SALINAS, May 7.—Constable Stone to-day arrested and lodged in jail Thomas Boden and John Betts, of Haines' Valley, in this county, for conspiracy in attempting to hang Coy for alleged felonious assault upon the person of a seven-year-old daughter of Betts. The complaint was sworn to by David Russell, brother-in law of Coy, and he says the charge is trumped up by Betts to avoid payment of wages due Coy.

More Rain.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—It rained steadily from 8 until 10:30 this morning, and continued at intervals during the day. It is cloudy to-night.

SANTA ROSA, May 7.—Heavy showers have fallen here since early this morning. This will cause some of the more advanced grain to lodge, and vineyards generally to be replowed, but will benefit stock ranges.

BALDWIN'S BELVEDERE.

The Elegant Country Home of a Modern Croesus.

Much has been said about "Lucky" Baldwin's Santa Anita ranch of thirteen thousand acres, with its wealth of golden oranges and luscious grapes. Besides these offerings of nature, the hand of art has done much to beautify the grounds about residence headquarters, where rills of water have been made to course in various directions, with musical murmure, while a beautiful lake adds greatly to the scenic effect.

On the bank of this lake has been erected a beautiful cottage of four large rooms and bath. From the Main drive a handsome shaded arbor leads up to the cottage, where the visitor treads a marble walk to the marble steps which rise to a marble-floored verandah. But it is upon entering the cottage itself that one becomes aware of the fact that wealth and artistic taste have gone hand in hand in producing the most elegant effects. The floors are being laid with Wilton carpets, at a cost of $5 per yard, while the finest furniture and brie-a-brac have been brought from the proprietor's rooms at the Baldwin Hotel, in San Francisco. Marble mantels of Parian whiteness with deep-set grates—in which it is intended to burn gas, made on the premises from naptha—temper the weather to cool—lend an air of solid comfort to the rooms. In the parlor is suspended a gold gilt chandelier, of candelabrum design, the jets being at the tops of the imitation candles. The spacious bed-room also has a chandelier of the finest onyx glass. It is, however, in the windows that the esthetic hand of the artist has found scope, and where the owner of this truly royal lodge has chosen to exhibit his taste. One of these contains a fine portrait of Byron, another of Shakespeare, a third a bathing scene, where beauty unadorned" is represented in Edenic loveliness, in the liquid element or swinging above it from vines, in utter oblivion of the profane gaze of "peeping Toms." Still another is wrought with delicate plants and flowers, and all combining to present the finest effects. Mr. Baldwin has also chosen to perpetuate the memory of the former Mrs. Baldwin, not by having an almost life size oil portrait of that lady, as she appeared in the halcyon days of maidenhood, hung in the bedroom, but in having a copy made on the glass that forms one of the doors. This picture, in colors, is of full-length design, about two feet in height, and shows her to have been quite hand-some.

The artisan in charge of the fitting-up says he has performed similar service in Bonanza Flood's house at Menlo Park, where the windows were considered fine, but do not compare with Baldwin's, though made in Europe, while the latter are of San Francisco manufacture.

Baldwin is in the East looking after his racing horses. His married daughter is in New York, while Mrs. Baldwin is in San Francisco. The cottage will be ready for occupancy this month. Meals will be taken at the adjoining house, reached by a wire bridge to be thrown across the water that intervenes.

Baldwin has made up his mind to dispose of about all his ranch except a small tract of thirty-two hundred acres, which he will retain as a homestead, and which, his superintendent says, could scarcely be purchased for two and a half millions of dollars. The rest of the land is held at from two hundred to five hundred dollars per acre.

A BURGLAR'S WORK.

A. C. Potter's Residence Visited by a Bold Thief.

A burglar paid a visit to the residence of A. C. Potter, No. 683 Pearl street, yesterday morning, between the hours of 1 and 2 o'clock, and succeeded in carrying away valuables worth about $30. The modus operandi of the culprit was a bold one. He gained an entrance to the dwelling by prying open the window of the kitchen. Once inside, he commenced operations in a practical manner. Several trunks in the storeroom were broken open and silverware and other plate was abstracted. He next visited the sitting room, where the sideboard was easily opened with a chisel, but here he got little for his pains. In the closet of this room was a large amount of silver plate which he overlooked. He then started on a tour of the bedrooms. Mrs. Potter was sleeping on the bed-lounge in the parlor, with a sick child, while her husband was reposing in the adjoining apartment. The door between the parlor was opened by a man who held a dark lantern in his hand. The light immediately awoke the lady, whose screams brought her husband to the scene. Her outcries had the effect of making the scoundrel beat a hasty retreat. Mr. Potter followed in close pursuit, but failed to overtake the thief, who did not neglect to carry off with him the articles taken from the store-room and sideboard. On the ground outside of the window Mr. Potter found two full bottles of liquor, when, no doubt, were purloined from some other individual.

QUIETING DOWN.

Freight Traffic Resumed at Chicago.

THE UNION PACIFIC STRIKE ENDED.

Anarchist Circulars at Pittsburg—Bradstreets Estimate of the Effect of the Strikes on Trade.

Associated Press Dispatches to The Times.

CHICAGO, May 7.—A general resumption of traffic is commencing on all the Western roads. Every line has a large force at work this morning, and in nearly every instance all freight offered is being handled.

END OF A BRAKEMEN'S STRIKE.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., May 7.—The brakemen's strike is ended all along the line of the Union Pacific. The last obstructions at Laramie and Rawlins have been removed. All the men ordered to return to work, and most of them were accepted by General Superintendent Dickinson, who is a Rawlins now. It is admitted by the brakemen that the strike was ill advised owing to the misrepresentations of delegates sent to confer with the division superintendent. All people express great satisfaction that the freight blockade is ended. Trains are moving regularly over all the divisions of the main line of the Union Pacific and delayed freight is pushed forward as rapidly as possible.

ANARCHISTS' CIRCULARS.

PITTSBURG, May 7.—Considerable excitement was occasioned in the lower wards of Allegheny and some parts of this city to day, by the distribution of an Anarchist circular in large numbers. The circular was printed in German and English, and urged the workingmen to revenge the killing of the McCormick men, and to burn, pillage and destroy and to eat and drink and be merry. The circulars were distributed so early that no suspicion of their character was entertained until thousands of copies had been given out. In this city there are seven groups of Anarchists with a total membership of not more than 150.

THE LABOR OUTLOOK.

Bradstreet's Report on the Industrial Situation.

NEW YORK, May 7.—Special telegrams to Bradstreet's indicate that the general trade situation is less favorable than a week ago. This is due to the partial paralysis of business at Chicago, as well as the disturbed industrial situation at Milwaukee, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Baltimore and elsewhere. At Chicago no business of a wholesale character worth mentioning has been done, and merchants generally are awaiting a settlement of the labor troubles. Another incident is the determination of the Chicago metal and furniture works and lumber yard employers to shut down rather than accede to what they regard as unjust demands. A similar spirit is displayed at Louisville. The movement of merchandise at leading cities east and west has been checked by the industrial troubles. Bradstreet's telegraphic report indicates that 325,000 men have taken part in the labor movement, and that 175,000 more have struck, and that 15,000 have received concession without having to strike; some 45,000 have gained their ends by striking. The outlook for an early or general clearing up of industrial disturbances is not bright.

DEMOCRATIC DODGING.

How Ohio State Senators Avoid Legal Process.

CHATTANOOGA, May 7.—Fourteen Democratic members of the Ohio State Senate arrived in this city to-day in a special car and are occupying the car which now stands in the Cincinnati Southern railway yard. They left Columbus, O., secretly Tuesday night, and have since been kept out of sight. The car for Chattanooga. They left the State of Ohio in order to go beyond the jurisdiction of a process that might be issued by the Grand Jury at Akron of the Senate. They state that they are merely standing by their constitutional rights, and have no intention or disposition to obstruct legislation, that the Appropriation bill has been passed and all important measures disposed of, and they now leave the Senate to preserve the Constitution of their State and defeat the plans of scheming politicians. They are firm in their determination not to yield an inch and will remain until a compromise is effected.

AFTER THE BOOKS.

Customhouse Authorities Stoutly Resisted by Merchants.

MONTREAL, May 7.—For some time past the customs authorities have understood that the firms of Patterson, Kinnock & Co. were passing goods at an undervaluation. Several times they attempted to gain access to the books of the firm, and obtain the necessary information, but failed. This morning they made another attempt, and a struggle ensued, as the firm had taken legal advice, and were informed that their books could not be forcibly taken away. During the altercation, revolvers were drawn and the police were called in, who arrested the customs officers. They returned to the store subsequently, but were again baffled by the firm, who had locked the books in the safe. The officers then seized the stock, which is valued at $175,000. The firm have taken legal proceedings against the customhouse authorities for illegal seizure. The matter has created quite a sensation.

The City Lands.

Mayor Spence and the Council are entitled to great credit for their late action in endeavoring to save to the city some portion of its real estate. This movement is a marked illustration of the old saying, "better late than never;" but how extremely unfortunate for the public that such action was not taken by some former Mayor and City Council, and before the city's immense patrimony was frittered away to Tom, Dick and Harry, who took it for the mere asking. At this late day the city finds itself the undisputed owner of a few small parcels of land which were deemed not worth stealing. All that was of any value in the past, except the acre or two in the plaza, and a few other such places, has been gobbled up in accordance with a well-established American custom, and the great city of Los Angeles with her Pueblo possessions of many thousands of acres to start with, is now without a decent place for a public park to contribute to the health and pleasure of the millions of people who, in the future, will tread her busy streets. The neglect of the city authorities of the past, in this regard, is reprehensible to the last degree, and the remarks of Mayor Spence touching the necessity of retaining for public uses all that remains of the city's lands are timely and to the point. A committee of the Council has been named to look into this matter of the city's interest in lands, in connection with the City Attorney, and it is hoped that the subject will receive the fullest consideration at their hands. We are opposed to disturbing old and established property rights, but we are still more opposed to fraud and injustice, and if it should turn out that lands have been taken from the city in a fraudulent and unjustifiable manner, we are clear that steps should be taken to restore them to the public. Every foot of land which belongs to the city by legal right should be sacredly guarded for "the people of the city, for educational purposes, city buildings, public parks and gardens forever." The morality of this thing is unquestionable, and if the City Attorney is unable to devote sufficient attention to this business, the municipal authorities could well afford to furnish him assistance. It is high time the city took some steps to ascertain, at least, approximately, what real estate she possesses or owns. We apprehend the Covert case is by no means the only one.

It is a principle of constitutional law which is constantly rung in our ears that "Private property cannot be taken for public use without just compensation," but the converse of the proposition, namely, that "Public property shall not be taken for private use," which is equally good law, is seldom alluded to, and the facility with which public property is sometimes converted into private ownership is marvelous. Nearly all the lands of the public of Los Angeles have undergone that transformation, but the compensation which the public has received—where is it? What public building, what city adornment, what street-grading, what sidewalk, what public improvement of any kind has resulted from these vastly valuable transfers of property from public to private use? Los Angeles ought to be, for its population, one of the wealthiest municipal corporations in the land; and it may be, notwithstanding the improvidence of her former rulers, that she still has more interests, legal and equitable, in real estate than she is aware of. At all events, it will be well for the present Mayor and Council, while they have the matter in hand, to cause a thorough investigation to be made, to the end of determining what the city does own, be it little or much.

If a proposition be made at any time to widen a street, or extend a sidewalk, the authorities are at once met with the announcement that "private property cannot be taken for public use," and it makes no difference, though the objector be benefited by the proposed improvement, a demand is made for compensation, all the same. A proposition to pave a street, no matter how great the necessity, is violently opposed by the over-go citizen of Los Angeles, and more likely by him who has received his possessions from the city than by any other; and "the time has at last arrived," as the Mayor says, "when the city should stand firmly upon her legal rights, and insist upon all that belongs to her." Indeed the city authorities, one and all, have no discretion to stop short of that. Will they do their duty?

This is the Chicago Inter-Ocean's solid advice to the strikers:

"Gentlemen, arbitrate your differences like men. Show by your acts that you live in this latter portion of the nineteenth century, and not among the surroundings of half-civilized society of centuries ago. Capital can not afford to be overbearing, neither can labor stand in the doorways of the mint tude of homes of this blessed land with a club. The doctrine is as old as the Bible—arbitrate and be at peace. Happiness, comfort, plenty, prosperity, all will follow. Arbitrate."

Brother Munhall, in one of his San Francisco sermons, made the declaration that every glass of beer dispensed in that city is adulterated. The brewers took offense at this and declared, not only that the reverend gentleman was a liar, but that he was lying in the interest of Eastern brewers. Here's a pretty howdy-do. Brother Munhall in league with the devil of fermented barley juice and hops? Perish the thought!

"There was no patent issued to disloyalty twenty years ago," remarks an exchange, "and Southern men and women can go it without any action for infringement."

INCORPORATION.

The Problem that Convulses Pasadena.

OPINIONS OF SOME LEADING CITIZENS.

A Preponderance of Opinion in Favor of Making it a City—The Boundaries Laid Down—Etc.

Tuesday next the subject of the incorporation of Pasadena will come up for hearing and discussion before the Board of Supervisors. An extensively signed petition, asking for incorporation, was laid before the Board in conformity to law, with a view of incorporating under the sixth class of municipal government, that portion of territory bounded by Dakota street on the north and Columbia street on the south, the Arroyo Seco on the west and the east line of the San Pasqual tract on the east, being about three miles north and south and two miles east and west. One week ago a protest was filed, signed principally by property holders interested in keeping out of the limits, asking the Board instead, to leave out of the limits proposed about ⅔ of a mile on the north, ⅔ mile on the south and ¾ mile on the western boundaries.

It is in this form that the question will come before the Board Tuesday. The protestors claim that they can, in no way, be benefited by incorporation, and the petitioners take issue with them. Many of the inhabitants of the protesting territory side with the petitioners. The longest-headed men of the settlement regret the contest, but there seems to be a settled conviction among those most interested that incorporation is at once needed for a large portion, if not all the territory, in order to distribute burdens equitably in proportion to benefits. This issue being of apparent paramount importance to the community, a TIMES representative interviewed a few of the gentlemen interested for the purpose of giving a little public light on the subject. The interviews seems to indicate a general feeling that the matter may be adjusted on an equable basis, and acrimony avoided which a long contest of this nature is liable to produce. The following interviews will explain the general feeling on the subject:

FAVORING INCORPORATION.

D. Gaibraith, cashier of the Pasadena Bank, said he resides at the Pasadena Highlands, outside the proposed limits. He was favorable to having the limits take in his property, although the benefits to him would be only incidental at the present time. He expected the near future, however, would see even his neighborhood thickly settled. Whatever benefits the center of Pasadena, he feels interested in, as it must indirectly benefit the entire surroundings. He believes there is an immediate necessity for fire protection, a system of drainage and a central authority to control street improvements and provide police and sanitary regulations.

W. O. Swan, Jr., merchant, said that, in common with other business men of Pasadena, he was in favor of immediate incorporation. "We need fire protection, a sewerage system, police protection and street improvements, and their repair provided for by law, which can only be attained successfully by municipal authority."

E. C. Webster, a large real-estate owner, engaged in many improvements, expressed his views as follows: "I think it is one of the most important matters that is before us. I have been engaged in business for the past three years in Pasadena, and I have heard all of its good qualities and its defects discussed. If we attend to a few important matters in time we need not fear the rivalry of any other village or city in Southern California. I favor incorporation at as early a date as possible, with no less boundaries than those petitioned for to the Board of Supervisors. We would then have protection against fire, a proper sewerage system assured, street grades regulated and width and construction of sidewalks provided for. We at once need a municipal authority to see that streets, alleys, cess pools and barn-yards are kept in a respectable and healthy condition, which will, unless attended to soon, become unbearable and a drawback to our prosperity. I am not finding fault with any one person in particular, but it is well known that there are always some who never look to the sanitary condition of their premises unless compelled. Should a fire occur, with a slight breeze, in our present helpless condition, no thing but total loss could be expected, and such a catastrophe in our business centre would sweep away a large amount of property, the effect of which would be felt by our entire surroundings. In the present condition of affairs, twenty or thirty men pay for street sprinkling and night watch, and many other public necessities, out of their private means, in order to keep things moving. I am one of the syndicate which is now laying out about $65,000 in one block (Exchange block), in which the whole community will derive a benefit. Proper consideration, therefore, of the public interests demands that there shall be immediate municipal organization. Is it possible that there is one within these boundaries who can not see that every dollar expended in economical municipal government for Pasadena will increase all values in the portion of the valley? Pasadena is now in its infancy, and my opinion is that, in the next three or four years, we will be much more surprised with its growth and improvements than we have been in the past."

T. P. Lukens, real estate owner and dealer, expressed himself in favor of incorporation in the broadest sense. He said: "A population which, within the proposed limits, has rapidly grown to thousands and is continually spreading out and increasing, demands immediate protection and regulation. The future health of the community must be secured by appropriate sanitary regulations. The peace of the settlement requires, at least, limited police protection. Street grades, now extended and beyond the proposed limits, demand systematic drainage. Fire and police protection alone will save in insurance rates the added expenses of a municipality such as proposed, if economically administered."

A. O. Bristol, Postmaster, and the owner of valuable properties within the proposed limits, said: "Certainly, we need municipal protection at once." He cited several instances occurring within the last week, in which visitors, seeking opportunity to invest, expressed themselves delighted with the people, the location and climate of Pasadena, but were surprised when they found that the community was without fire and police protection, and with no means for providing sanitary rules.

G. A. Swartwout, hardware dealer, said: "I feel that immediate incorporation is the turning point in the history of Pasadena. I reside in Pasadena Highlands, but have property interests within the proposed limits. Six months ago I signed a petition for an incorporation, to include my property, near the mountains, which failed for the time being. I am in favor of the present proposed limits, which certainly ought not to be opposed. Municipal incorporation will add very much to the value of all property, while it is protected by its influence."

C. T Hopkins, of Olivewood: "I consider the incorporation of Pasadena, as a municipal body, indispensable to the growth and stability of the town. Hitherto it has been peopled by that sturdy and self-contained class of Americans who are a law unto themselves, and need no one to restrain them in their daily conduct. But the railroad is bringing in a great increase of population. Recent burglaries and drunkenness and the late public warning to tramps to leave town, show that all the new arrivals are not of the same class as the old settlers. The people are now perfectly defenseless against criminal acts, should any be attempted. They are wholly unprepared to extinguish fires; there is not a hydrant, a public cistern, a fire engine, nor a yard of fire hose in the place; there is no jurisdiction over the streets, which are widened or narrowed, graded or not, and shaded or not, at the discretion of individual owners. No public sewer or sewer system is possible. There is no public building, no jail for the confinement of arrested persons; no authority to deal with gas or water; no common bond to unite the people in any enterprise. In fact, every plan does that which is right in his own eyes. I believe no one disputes the general proposition that we need to incorporate for the public good. The only opposition arises on the question of boundaries. North, east and south, the residents on the outskirts seem to fear that their only interest in the city government would be felt in the payment of taxes, while the benefits would be confined to the center. I think there is a good deal of borrowed trouble on these points. Anyhow, Olivewood is on the eastern outskirt of the proposed city. I prefer to pay my share of the tax, even though I should receive no direct benefit, rather than see the incorporation fail. The tax cannot be a burden on anyone. The incorporation will not affect the school districts, which are governed by special statutes. The law for corporations of the sixth class provides only three salaried officers—the marshal, who is also tax collector; the clerk, who is also assessor, and the surveyor. The treasurer is paid by commissions, and the attorney can be paid by fees. There is no mayor. A Board of five trustees do nearly all the work and receive no pay. Ten or twelve thousand dollars required to pay all expenses of this simple scheme can hardly be felt as a burden, and if honest men are elected to office (we are all honest here, as yet) I do not believe the remit of the incorporation would justify the fears of its present opponents. But its benefits would be unquestionable. Put me down in favor of it—first, last, and all the time. I only hope that the residents in the center will not be discouraged by the opposition of the suburbs, but will, in any event, vote to incorporate at least a mile square."

J. W. Wood, druggist, said: "As one of the original movers in the incorporation project, I have always felt an emphatic conviction of its benefits As a young and progressive settlement, some discretionary authority should control the widening of streets; project needed sanitary measures; protect us from fire, tramps and other nuisances that increase with a growing community. I believe, however, in fairly considering the protests of residents within the extreme limits of the present proposed area of incorporation, and would prefer to draw the lines closer rather than force any number of unwilling ones. There can be no question, however, of the great benefit such incorporation would be to all who claim Pasadena as their home. Therefore I say, let us incorporate."

R. Williams, an early Pasadenan, owning property both out and inside the proposed limits, said: "I consider incorporation of the utmost importance to this place, and of such advantage to the entire community that the slight increase in taxation will be but a small percentage of the increase in valuations; besides having a uniformity in our street improvements, protection from fire and a consequent reduction in the prices of insurance, which advantages offset the cost ten to one. I have property outside the proposed limits as well as in, and think that outside will receive its relative share of benefits."

Judge H. W. Magee—"I have only a few words to say. The question of the advisability of incorporation is not a mooted one, in my mind. I am in favor of it. The benefits that may be derived by the law under a charter are many. If incorporated, we can enact an ordinance to supply the city with water, to establish, lay out, alter, keep open, improve and repair street, side-walks, alleys and other public highways and places within the city; also, to drain, sprinkle and light the same; to establish grades, to grade, pave, macadamize, gravel and curb the same; to construct gutters and sidewalks; also, to construct, establish and maintain drains and sewers; to collect two dollars annual street poll tax from every male citizen between the ages of 21 and 60 years, residents of the corporation, and use the money improving our city; to collect two dollars annual license on every dog owned or harbored in the town; also to license, for the purpose of regulation and revenue, all shows, exhibitions, games and saloons within the limits of the city. These are some of the advantages to be derived under a charter, and, if Pasadena keeps in fair name for healthfulness and beauty, it should incorporate, and if the laws are honestly administered, as they can be, those who are now so anxious to be left out to avoid the heavy taxation which cannot exceed in any case, for all purposes, 65 cents on each $100 for any one year, will in a very short time be knocking for admission, that they may receive aid for street improvements and the like."

THE OPPOSITE SIDE.

C. C. Brent (owning real estate affected), said, on the subject of incorporation, that he signed the protest to the proposed limits, remarking: "I think that the western bon duty should be Moline avenue, as described in the protest filed with the Board of Supervisors, for I think those east of that line can derive no benefit from the incorporation."

Mr. Brown said that he admitted the probable immediate necessity of incorporation for Pasadena center, but beyond Moline avenue on the east and Illinois street on the north the residents in those districts honestly feel there can be no benefits derived from incorporation.

"Yet," he said, "a condition of affairs may arise in the future that may make it desirable for portions, if not all, the protesting territory, to come into the incorporate limits."

NOTICE TO BUYERS AND SELLERS
—OF—
Real Estate.
A great many to whom this article refers, imagine they can save money by avoiding even the best posted and most reliable Real Estate Agents. We know of many instances where the economizing, cautious buyer, having quietly hunted up his own purchase, paid double the price that we could have sold him equally as good property adjoining, owned by parties who must sell.
Inexperienced men are constantly going in and out of the real estate business who make a failure from a want of a knowledge of it. They often unintentionally mislead buyers into bad speculations; while many of the irresponsible, speculating cubstone brokers, having no office rent to pay, and avoiding the lawful license, will advise the buyer into any kind of speculations to make commissions, or will try to break up any sale where they are not interested. Many new-coming purchasers can testify to this after they see their mistake.
We have been in the real estate business for over twenty-five years, and claim to be thoroughly posted as to values, and a general knowledge of the business in every detail, and believe that there is no place where a full knowledge is as important as in this county, with its various kinds of soil, and short distances, affected by climate, altitude, and location.
We do not take property for sale held above its market value. We are, therefore prepared to lay before the buyer all kinds of city or country property as low, if not cheaper, than they can be had elsewhere, and some at great speculations. We cannot recall to mind, within the past two years, a single instance where the purchaser bought on our judgment, that he has not received, or could not get, an advance from ten per cent. per annum to three times its cost.
If required, we can give as reference some of the best business men and firms of this city, as to our business standing and manner of attending to the same.

BELL AT BAY.

Ranney's Courtroom the Scene of More Fun.

Justice Ranney's court had an interesting session yesterday afternoon, the case being that in which B. A. Stephens, a reporter for the Express, prosecuted Major Horace Bell for "assault with a deadly weapon." The progress of Major Bell's examination developed some spicy passages between the parties most at interest.

Mr. Stephens first told his story, which was that he had gone to Major Bell's office on Wednesday to explain that he had made an unintentional error in saying that Major Bell had spoken of his own mother as a washerwoman. Major Bell had insisted that it was a wilful lie, and had assaulted him with a little cane, shaking at him the loaded head and threatening to wear it out on him.

William Fitzgerald, Deputy Sheriff D. W. Field and Mrs. Butler, were also put upon the stand. The evidence of the first two was unimportant. Mrs. Butler was in Major Bell's office at the time of the alleged assault, and stated that the Major did not shake the loaded end of the cane at Stephens, but only the switch end. An attachment was issued for Richard Donnegan, one of Major Bell's witnesses, but he could not be found. Horace Bell, jr., gave an unimportant statement. Then Major Bell took the stand, and said:

"Mr. Osborne came to my office day before yesterday and I showed him the article in which the Express had been lying about me. My mother never was a washerwoman. It would be no disgrace to me if she had been, though discourteous in me to have made such a statement. But she never was one, and I never said she was, nor anything that could be construed to mean that she was. I told Mr Osborne so, and he said he would see Stephens. I knew that Stephens was a great liar"—

Mr. Knox: "Is isn't necessary to be personal, Major."

Major Bell: "Stephens came up to my office and I said to him, 'here, you've been lying about me, and I'm tired of it.' 'He said, 'Why, what have I done?' I showed him the paragraph. He said, 'Well, I understood you to say so.' I answered, 'You are an intentional and deliberate liar, and you get right out of this office. If you weren't so contemptible, I'd throw you out.' I walked out into the hall with him, close up to him Deputy Sheriff Field came up then to tell me that a jury had come in, and having sold me, went on to tell Mr. White. Then Mr. Donnegan came up, and I called him to me to witness what I said, and I told Stephens that he was a wilful, deliberate and malicious liar, and if he dared deny it I would wear out my cane on him. I held the cane by the head, switching the small part. I did not shake the loaded part at him at all. Then as Stephens didn't deny that he was a liar, I let him go."

Stephens: "So you desired to whip me? What kept you from it?"

Bell: "Nothing in the world, sir. If you had need one insolent word, I would have whipped you, and given you a good one, too. I never did whip a dog, and I never called a man a liar before in my life. I wouldn't have then, but I was angry."

Assistant District Attorney Knox: "I don't think this case requires much argument. The charge is of a felony—assault with a deadly weapon. The complaining witness has sworn that Maj. Bell shook the loaded end of the cane at him; but he has no corroborative evidence. Mrs. Butler and Maj. Bell swear to just the reverse. It is simply a case of preponderance of evidence. From the testimony adduced, I cannot feel justified in saying that the defendant be held over, thus putting the county to expense where it is evident there could not be a conviction."

The Court: "I discharge the defendant."

Major Bell called attention to section 1447, and under it moved that the costs of this case be taxed to the complaining witness, on the ground that the action was brought maliciously and without just cause. He was a little tired of this thing, and thought he was entitled to some protection.

The Court: "I won't do it."

Major Bell: "You won't? Mr. Knox, if you will make out a complaint for perjury against Stephens, I will prosecute it."

Mr. Knox went off to draw his complaint, and the crowd departed.

A PASADENA PARADISE.

Some of Its Beauties Glowingly Described.

About seven miles from Los Angeles, near the South Pasadena station, within three-quarters of a mile of the great Raymond Hotel, lies a beautiful tract of land at the base of gently sloping hills known as the Marengo tract. From time to time this tract has been divided and sold in parts to a number of smaller proprietors, and now that the march of improvement has demanded it, one of the proprietors has sub-divided his portion into lots 100x300 feet, making a ball acre each, and is about to place them on the market. This is the first sub-division of the Marengo tract to be placed upon the market, and it is already attracting wide attention as one of the most eligible and lovely sites around Pasadena, a veritable earthly paradise. A new railroad from San Gabriel to the Raymond will shortly be running past the lot; street-sprinkling cost to the purchasers, are laid out between the lots, and a new graded school house is near by. Water, pure and abundant, is piped directly to the front of each lot with sufficient force to throw it seventy feet above the highest point on the tract, having a fall of about 100 feet to the mile. Yesterday a reporter for the TIMES had the pleasure of riding over the lots, and noting its many beauties and natural advantages. At no point within the vicinity of Pasadena is a more delightful spot for residences, for the lay of the land is so attractive, the view so fine, and the air so sweet. This rich and wonderful Marengo tract consisted originally of one thousand acres, and this present subdivision embraces forty-four acres that are the pick of the whole tract. Already a new house is being erected directly opposite, and rapid preparation is being made for laying the horse railroad along Fair Oaks avenue straight up to the depot and the Raymond Hotel. As these lots are bought and built upon their rapid appreciation in value is sure to be positive and almost unprecedented, for they lie in the midst of the world's choicest garden spot, near to many wonderful improvements that will add so much to the culture and development of their neighborhood. This tract of forty-four acres is known as the McFarland subdivision, and is owned and for sale by Dan McFarland, of 39 N. Spring street, Los Angeles, a progressive and far-seeing gentleman, who long since noted the value and beauty of this remarkable tract of land. A few months the Raymond Hotel, one of the wonders of Southern California, will open its doors to visitors and attract the attention of the whole country; tourists will come in droves and palace cars will run to the piazza steps; houses after house will be erected in this neighborhood, and values on land will increase rapidly from day to day. It is not likely that the facility will ever again offer so tempting a display of building lots, and it is certain that they will never again be bought for the same price as they can be had to-day, even should men wait and watch for a thousand years to come. The public is scarcely aware of the many railroads projected, some of them now actively under way; of the vast improvements being carried on, and the general march of progress into this favored section. Whether it be for health or pleasure, one could not find a better place, for it seems as if man would neither grow weary nor die in such a lovely spot. Real estate "booms" and auctions may become stale and tiresome, but land that rests only on its own merits and is offered without sensationalism or the representation of fictitious value will always be in honest demand. That the proprietor of this tract appreciates its worth and desirability is evidenced by his reserving for himself about twenty acres for future use and residence. It is not necessary that one should be a would-be purchaser to enable him to see and enjoy this place; for a ride over it and around it will prove an ample pleasure and a long remembered event. Nature was in her most gracious mood when she made this place on the surface of the earth for a delight to the eye and a rest for the soul of man. The future of this locality will be an interesting matter for observation for many years.

THAT SWAP.

Just What the Written Proposition Amounted To.

A "Tax-Payer" writes the TIMES to ask for the exact written proposition made to Council as to the exchange of the city hall property for the St. Vincent's College property. Following is the desired document:

To the Honorable, the City Council of the City of Los Angeles—GENTLEMEN: Feeling a deep interest in the future of our rapidly-growing city, and that, in the near future, our city will require more spacious grounds than the present location on the northwest corner of Second and Spring streets upon which to erect its handsome public structures in keeping with this beautiful place—say ten years hence, of 100,000 people—I have taken upon myself the liberty of investigating an enterprise that is perhaps worthy of your consideration. I am authorized by the President of the Faculty of St. Vincent's College to say that they will entertain a proposition to exchange their valuable block, with the large building thereon, between Fort, Hill, Sixth and Seventh streets, for the City Hall property of 120 feet on Spring street by 165 feet on Second street, with the buildings thereon, giving the city the option to remove its present jail improvements. The college property has about 600 feet front on Hill and 600 feet front on Fort street by a depth of 165 feet, worth, say, $40,000 for the grounds, besides the buildings thereon, worth, say, $40 000. And it is my opinion that, if your honorable body will entertain the proposition, the President of said college will call the Faculty together to consider an even exchange.

Very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
JOHN F. HUMPHREYS.

Sights in Wonderland.

Everybody is familiar with the ordinary and prominent phenomena worked by the aid of electricity as exemplified by the electric light and the electric telegraph, but very few people have any knowledge of the many wonderful things worked by electrical science in the way of small and ingenious inventions and devices for increasing the world's stock of safety, amusement or convenience. Anybody who feels an interest in things that are curious and startling, as well as practical and useful, should visit the wonder-working factory of the Los Angeles Electrical works, at No. 20 South Main street, and ask one of the enterprising gentlemen there to show him through the works. In the first place, he would probably be shown some wonderful burglar alarms and electric bells, whose warnings would fill him with amazement, and then will follow, with almost dazzling rapidity, annunciators, gas extinguishers, night lamps, gas burners and a thousand and one devices too numerous to keep track of. When one reflects that electrical science is almost in its infancy, he must pause and wonder where it will all end. This establishment, re-inforced by new and intelligent partners, is a credit to the city of Los Angeles, and its door is always wide open to visitors. Ever since the time of Ben Franklin and the original lightning, the world has been treated to a succession of electrical wonders, and of late years they have continued to come to us in a bewildering stream. A streak of lightning is very rapid, but electrical science is almost as quick, and we have now one of the most intelligently managed establishments in the country, manned by first-rate men. In a few months it is to be expected that every house in Los Angeles will be equipped with an electrical burglar alarm, and a gas lighter and matches and robbers will take a back seat.

A Gifted and Wonderful Lady.

For the benefit of suffering humanity and to convince the public that the French lady (Mme. Dufiot), who is performing such miracles, is an angel from heaven and a mystery, I will state that I came to Los Angeles a year ago, helpless with rheumatism, and can give witnesses to my condition, which was only partly relieved, after having five physicians of this city. Not a day have I been exempt from slight attacks in different parts of the body, especially in the heels. Although not having faith in patent medicines, on hearing of this medicine, sold by this lady, at the Plaza, I gave it a trial for rheumatism and neuralgia. After the second application it disappeared, being the first entire cure during three years. Witnessing her wonderful surgical cures, and being inspired with confidence in her medicine, I applied it (according to directions) to my nine year-old grandchild, who has been deaf from measles since her third year, and who has been unsuccessfully treated by prominent physicians and aurists of San Francisco and this city. Finding it afforded so much relief and contained such wonderful curative powers, I had the lady examine her, which she did Tuesday afternoon at the Plaza, curing her entirely of her deafness. What is most astonishing is that her mission for performing these miracles comes purely through her love to relieve suffering humanity and her belief that she is placed on this world to give us poor suffering (rich and poor) a benefit of her magic power in surgery and her wonderful knowledge of medicine for no recompense whatever, except to cure the afflicted. Well may she be called "Angel of Mercy and Goodness."

Growing City Property

Are probably more remunerative in the long run than any other class of securities. Los Angeles is so situated that its business growth, that which makes property most valuable, inclines in but one direction, that is south. Hills on the west, river on the east, prevent the side development that otherwise might take place. If, as is generally predicted, the city contains 150,000 population five years hence, the most of this acc sation for business purposes must exte d out Main st. Property at that time situated on the present boundary line in that direction will probably be or some such relation to the city that Sixth and Main now does.

These facts in mind, we refer to the extraordinary offers of the managers of the Co-operative Nursery Tract, now for sale, subdivided into 482 residence lots, none less than 50x150 feet each. This tract, situated 2½ miles south of Postoffice, is beautiful and perfect in every sense. Those acquainted speak of it in the highest terms. Handsome residences surround it in all directions.

With these lots are included ten beautiful dwellings. Heavy plank sidewalks in front of every lot; four must electric lights; fifteen large corner lots, fourteen-year-old orange trees and bearing vines, all of which improvements are included in the price, $250 for each lot, payable in easy instalments, as follows: $50 cash at time of subscription, $25 in one month, $25 in two months and $50 in three months and each month thereafter until $250 is paid. A few lots in the orange section intended for a family living. About July 31st a draw ng will take place to see which of the subscribers get the dwellings and choice lots. These dwellings are to be elegant and first-class in every respect. Plans to be seen at office of J. M. Hutchens & Co., real estate, auctioneers, Rooms 39 and 35, Nadeau Block, where subscriptions are being rapidly received. The title of the property is perfect. For further particulars and maps call at above office. Also see large advertisement in this paper, page 3, where a more detailed description may be found. The owner of this tract, whose responsibility is of the highest class, respectfully refers to his Honor Mayor Spence, President of the First National Bank; President John E. Plater, of Los Angeles County Bank; President Geo. H. Bonebrake of Los Angeles National Bank. my8 1m
